先月の復習 (L.1)

I'm a sales representative at a trading firm. We sell foreign cleaning goods to domestic companies. Our main lines are industrial-use vacuum cleaners, washers and detergents.

I've been working for the company for about five years now. I've sold more than 500 vacuum cleaners, about 300 washers and uncountable amounts of detergent since I started working there.

I love my job, not only because I get to meet a lot of people, but also because I can hear a lot of different stories from them about business. I hope I can continue this job for the rest of my career.

Ace Corporation is a leading manufacturer of home appliances. They make TVs, refrigerators, washing machines, air conditioners, mobile phones, and any other electric device that you can think of.

Ken is supposed to give them a presentation on two of his cleaner models. Ace Corporation seems to be interested in using his cleaners at their plant to speed up their cleaning procedures.

Ken's presentation is in three days. A production manager at the plant who has the right to make executive decisions will be attending the presentation. Ken has to prepare really well to make sure that he can convince the manager to make Ace Corporation a new customer.

先月の復習 (L.3)

Ann: I'm Ann McCartney, the production manager.

Ken: I'm pleased to meet you, Ms. McCartney. I'm Ken Yokota.

Ann: It's good to finally meet you, Mr. Yokota. I've heard a lot about you.

Ken: Well, I hope you've only heard good things.

Ann: Of course. So, you're going to tell us about your washers today?

Ken: Yes. I'd like to show you exactly what our machines can do for you.

I have all the information right here in my computer.

Ann: That sounds great. Before we start your presentation, would you like something to drink ?

Ken: Uh…yes, could I ask for a glass of water? That'd be great, thank you.

先月の復習 (L.4)

Our company has decided to launch a new product line because the washer business is slowing down. Last week, I flew to Singapore to see our new supplier. It was my first trip abroad in two years.

When I arrived in Singapore, the sales manager from our supplier there was waiting for me at the airport. She came to pick me up in her car. She showed me around downtown on the way to her office. The city had lots of interesting buildings and nice shops. I was surprised to see so many trees and flowers in the downtown area.

After we arrived at her office, we had a meeting about a new project. The two of us are going to work together for the next six months on developing our new merchandise.

L.6 Dinner at a Restaurant レストランでの夕食

First Listening

まずはDialogを見ないで音声を聴き、話の内容を推測しましょう。

1. このレストランのおすすめ料理は何だと言っていますか？
2. 2人が最終的に注文するのは何ですか？
3. 飲み物は何を注文しますか？ なぜそれを選んだのでしょうか？

ディクテーション

音声を聞き、空欄に入るフレーズを書きましょう。

Sara: So, what would you like to have, Ken?

Ken: What do you recommend in this place?

Sara: I recommend the pizza. They make the world's best pizza here.

Ken: Really? But, pizza for dinner? _____.

Sara: Believe me. Their crust is unbelievable. You'll love it.

Ken: OK. _____?

On top of that, I'll have this grilled salmon with a side salad.

Sara: All right. I'll go for the carbonara. They make the world's best carbonara.

Ken: Everything they make is the world's best, huh?

Sara: That's right. Are you going to drink something? _____
_____? Some white should go well with your salmon.

Ken: Sounds great. Let's have the world's best white wine, then.

Sara: You know it! Excuse me, we're ready to order, please.

リピーティング
